"Looking For A Reason"

I'm looking for a reason to stay
I'm all wound up and tired enough today I'm looking for a reason not to go when the morning comes I'll be on my way

Every night I ask myself again
'cause what it was that made my dream begin it seemed like a good idea way back then well I'm wondering now what daydream took me in Yesterday I tried one more to find the way to share the trouble on my mind
The things I can turn away every time I used to like it here I can't remember why

I'm looking for a reason to stay...
