The time has gone
And dreams are lost in the past
As we make for the end
We find our lost destiny
Voices came from other dimensions, visions are quite clear
Day by day it gets a little stronger, as prophecies come true
For ever and ever, we seek relief from our pain
The final solution, finding the way
How much longer must we wait our time is wasting away
Take me to a different time
Where there is no pain
To another dimension
Where all visions came
Where all visions came
Where all visions came
We have labored, through the darkness
To behold a shimmer of hope
How much longer must we bear this Burden of our sinking souls
Save our souls, break our chains
Lead us to freedom, confirm the belief
Take us back in time, to eternity
Will we, ever see, visions to behold
Will we, ever hear, we believe in the prophecies

Save me from this loneliness
Free the tortured souls
Save us from this insanity
Take us from this hell
When all seemed to be lost
Nothing could save us, no future no past
Darkness, despair was our life
No one would believe
Then, the visions came
All believed in the prophecies
In the prophecies
In the prophecies
We have labored through the darkness
To behold a shimmer of hope

How much longer must we wait
Our time is wasting away
Wait until this emptiness ends
After all the years
The prophecies all came true
It was the promised words we heard
We could not believe till now
How much longer must we wait
Our time is wasting away
Forever and ever, we seek relief from the pain
The final solutions, finding the way
We survived, the hell fires of darkness
And
