Since the beginning you knew
He's been with you
You were raised in the church
So you know I'm tellin' the truth

Livin' like you don't know right from wrong
Tellin' yourself you're okay
God's word is always right
Just admit you've left the way

So I'm here to tell ya, it doesn't matter
What you've done or where you been
Just fall on your knees, confess
And He will forgive your sins

Come on back home
You've been away too long
God has been good to you
He's brought you through and through

Why can't you see the signs?
We're living at the end
Jesus is coming soon
Don't wait too late my friend

Just surrender and stop the fight
Go head and throw in the towel
Why run from love any longer
When you're almost out of time

Let him restore you
And break up that fallow ground
All power is in His hands
To turn your whole life around

Let Him in your heart
The choice is yours
You don't have to be ashamed

Come on back home
You've been away too long
God has been good to you

He's brought you through and through

Why can't you see the signs?
We're living at the end
Jesus is coming soon
Don't wait too late my friend

Please don't ignore
The knocking at your door
Let him in your heart
He'll forget the past and give a fresh new start

And this time hold on, don't let Him
Don't let Him, don't let Him go
He wants to wash you and fill you
And heal you and love you like

Come on back home
You've been away too long
God has been good to you
He's brought you through and through

Why can't you see the signs?
We're living at the end
Jesus is coming soon
Don't wait too late my friend
