He's coming soon
He's coming soon
Working and waiting
Oh come there's still room
No man knows the hour, when we'll see the groom soon coming for his bride he's coming soon

Mary don't weep
dear mother why moan?
You say that I'm too late and I say you're wrong Just show me where he lies and he'll rise from the tomb and when he cracks the sky we all will rise too

Oh he's coming soon
just working and waiting,
Oh come there's still room
no man knows the hour when we'll see the groom soon coming for his bride, yes he's coming soon

So tell all my people, these are the last days This heaven and earth shall soon pass away So those who are chosen must work while it's day The harvest is plenty so please don't delay

See there's wall of Jasper and the streets paved with gold A mansion for all where we'll never ever grow old It's a land of milk and honey With white pearly gates Hey we'll live there forever And there's not long to wait

Cause he's coming soon
oh there's still room
no man knows the hour when we'll see the groom
he's coming for his bride you be ready

he's coming

nobody knows better be ready

he's on his way

yes he is

I can see him in the clouds coming through one day

we don't have long

oh let's get ready

coming for his bride

and he's coming soon
