Today, another Monday afternoon
I'm tired of working and it's raining
There's no kids outside, cause the TV guide
Has them all wrapped up in a sequel
You would never find this in summertime
Cause there's too many crazy adventures
And there we were!

Building castles in the sand
Watching the tide pull it out again
Making faces in the clouds
Watching them change till they've blown away
In a house on the waterside and we
Were watching the boats go skimming by
Back in summertime

And now, the leaves have fallen to the ground
And we're so busy turning life around
All the kids have tried playing games outside
But prefer to be under their blankets
You would never find this in summertime
Cause there's too many crazy adventures
And there we were!

Building castles in the sand
Watching the tide pull it out again
Making faces in the clouds
Watching them change till they've blown away
In a house on the waterside and we
Were watching the boats go skimming by
Back in summertime

And there we were!
Building castles in the sand
Watching the tide pull it out again
Making faces in the clouds
Watching them change till they've blown away
In a house on the waterside and we
Were watching the boats go skimming by
Back in summertime
