Another building falls down
another shell hits the ground

Dear government
We're watching all the pieces fall apart
And what are we saving anymore
How can you replace all the civilians

Election time is nearly here
And we dont want another cavalier
How can you replace another soldier

Another brother is gone
Another mother alone
Another home disappears
Another presence appears

Dear government
We're watching all the pieces fall apart
And what are we saving anymore
How can you replace all the civilians

Election time is nearly here
And we dont want another cavalier
How can you replace another soldier

Those of us standing on the backline
Those of us, the voice of freedom sing "no"
Those of us who wont take silence anymore
Whos voices must be heard, sing "no"

Those of us standing on the back line
Those of us the, voice of freedom sing "no"
Those of us who wont take silence anymore
Whos voices must be heard, sing "no"
