Put another log on the fire
This night could be long
Watch the candles make the shadows dance
All over our walls
Reminiscing all the crazy days gone by
The good and the bad
Flicking through the pictures of our story
Look how far we've come

I guess our love has pulled through it all
With the world in our arms
The road is long and the nights seems seem so hard
But our love pulled through it all

Do you remember what we did last Christmas
We were broke, so we wrote each other notes
But then we counted all our savings
From the jar hiding in the back room
I got my first song played on a radio show
You couldn't keep my feet down on the ground
But it didn't make us any money
Talk about trying to leap out and come crashing down

I guess our love has pulled through it all
With the world in our arms
The road is long and the nights seems seem so hard
But our love pulled through it all

I guess our love has pulled through it all
With the world in our arms
The road is long and the nights seems seem so hard
But our love pulled through it all
