Above the shores an eerie light glimpse, may it flickers as a sign of the once were died in here A soil of tragedy, dismal breaker swinging in an ode of impure spells and unsung prophecies Misty spume ascends, as a veil of sombre clouds arosed in sin and grief from a sorrow guardian Six feet under waits, procreation tenebrous, An ancient symbol of the chants which were recite to honor death

Westering sun - Illuminate the golden signs Forthcoming dusk - Let the guide a moonlight be Sanctified malice - Lunar born, sweep through the sand In a phantom land - The spirit of the cult awakes

Insurrection rise, this portentous night, the unhallowed secretes of the soil revealed forevermore Whispers can be heard, phantasmagoria or just the waves which dance Malignant stench, poisoned the air, drift along the womb of the earth leaves behind some scars of dismay Nothing withstand, ancient leprosy, no rose can be found on the barren ground just like to testify the reign of death

Destiny shall be fulfilled when the oceans starts to congeal Deep down frozen in the ground, the confidence of ancient beliefs
Memories of wisdom, beyond flesh they arise to breath
A sleeping garden, cursed to rest in desolated seas

Eastering sun - Let the signs wither away Forthcoming dawn - Guide the night to oblivion Cruel abomination - Lay the land in solitude Shattered domain - Near the ocean, sorrow reigns

May eternally...
