

Kid British

"Gonna Be Alright"

Visit "Gonna Be Alright" on MotoLyrics.com

I'm seeing my life go down the plug hole
I'm seeing it all go up in flames
I might as well throw it all out the window
Cos it's all about to change
Down and out I still hope someone can take away this pain
And it's a long road
And life feels like a thousand days of rain

Everything changes but it's gonna be alright
I'm gon work it out
Everything changes but it's gonna be alright
I'm gon work it
Everything changes but it's gonna be alright
I'm gon work it out
Might take ages but it's gonna be alright

Now their saying I can't cope
Quick to aim and point the blame
I'm gonna see how the story unfolds
How long can the lion inside stay tame
I'm ready to explode no longer a person without a name
A million and one thoughts ready to unload
It's all about to change

Things change look at you now
Do you remember when you couldn't get a shout
All the times your opinion didn't count
And now they can't keep your name out their mouth
And you would tell them you would work it out
And they'd reply get your head out the clouds
It only took a few changes
For new environments and new faces

Visit Kid British page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.