I was hiding from the sun once again
I was running from the time my friend
I've lost another war
So, I poured one more and went home drunk again
She was up when the key hit the lock And the clock looked at me just like the devil in disguise
I saw it in her eyes - she'd be gone before the evenin'

So, I poured another strong one and chopped a line from here to texas Cause I've lost another good one - she's on the midnight train to memphis
With a brand new start, I swore I'd love from the heart
I meant to change my ways
But I've seen better days than the one's that's here this mornin'
With a wife and kids at home with a job some where on some assembly line
I wish I had that life - I bet you wish you had mine So, let's pour another tall one and chop a line from here to texas
Cause I've lost another good one - she's on the
midnight train to memphis

Dude, what station is this? k snooze? kid rock I thought he was the american bad ass He's putting me to sleep. nudge me if he gets over five decibals.
I knew his first album was a good one

But that's the way I am
And this is how I jam
All across the land from alabam to bandstand Doped up rebel with an attitude
Shit
So fuck a bitch
So fuck a bitch
So fuck a bitch
I won't switch won't quit my vices

Flip the script cause I'm gonna slice the righteous Haven't you heard I don't refrain Free as a bird and so I won't change Livin it up givin it up fuckin shit up What
I'm gonna run my track from the d to nantucket
So fuck it - if you don't dig that, you can suck it.

And it don't
And it don't

With an old suitcase, I swear I'll leave this place I'll get you back in time Can't drink you off my mind. so, I'll see you when I'm sober.
I been looking for some reasons, but I ain't found one down in texas
I been changing with the seasons Walked in a new line back to memphis.
