

Kids In The Way "The Seed We've Sown"

Visit "The Seed We've Sown" on MotoLyrics.com

My knuckles have turned white from holding your hand, oh, so tight
Your hand in mine feels too right
My tongue has become tied, I'm fighting back my insides
I'm dancing with an angel under pale moonlight

I'm waiting for the day when you will come to me and say
I'm here to stay, so let's run away

We are standing on the edge of it all
Take my hand, let's go
There's no need to be afraid of the fall
My love will hold you

I'm drying tears I've cried from finding love that's in your eyes
One kiss from you and I'm paralyzed
Our hearts are killing time, they're dying to be in line
The idea of being one with you is the greatest prize

We'll watch each other grow, step into the great unknown
This is our hope, the seed we've sown

We are standing on the edge of it all
Take my hand, let's go
There's no need to be afraid of the fall
My love will hold you

We are standing on the edge of it all
Take my hand, let's go
There's no need to be afraid of the fall
My love will hold you

My love will hold
The seed we've sown
My love will hold
The seed we've sown

