Tell me when it's time to fight your deamons and confont your lies
A moment too soon I'm having too much trouble trying to live your life
Let's be honest it's upon us still nothing is going right
Tell me when it's time Meet me at the borderline

He's a new man done with being noticed by anyone so change the focus on A man contained in circumstance, turns out to be the man who washed your hands It's a tragedy of sorts forced to find what you're looking for Breaking records with the lines you cross at a loss for something more

Come's back around and kicks me from behind trying to compromise
Always fallin on your feet and pretending like you never try

confont your lies
A moment too soon I'm having too much trouble trying
to live your life
Let's be honest it's upon us still nothing is going right
Tell me when it's time Meet me at the borderline

Stop what you're doing pay attention stand in line It's laughable to think you think you're never gonna get left behind
More or less I do the best I can do address every line
I don't think you're being realistic when you're making up your mind

Come's back around and kicks me from behind trying
to compromise
Always fallin on your feet and pretending like you
never try

confont your lies

A moment too soon I'm having too much trouble trying
to live your life
Let's be honest it's upon us still nothing is going right
Tell me when it's time Meet me at the borderline

Meet me there meet me halfway Meet me at the borderline
Tell me when it's time meet me at the borderline
