The window of my life is filled with condensation
Not really able to hold a conversation
Without thinking about the consequence of 20 years down the line

Man it felt so deceiving when it came after so long
But love ain't felt this right to be wrong

Safely go back to sleep thinking that someday you might dream of me
Put everyone else in that box on your shelf and let me
hold you quietly
Tonight

Quite the unexpected story
Just to say the least
Man I wasn't expecting a change in circumstance Especially not the change in me

I can cope with the distance
I can manage the days
Just as long as I know that someday somewhere somehow I'm gonna be able to see your face

Safely go back to sleep
Thinking that someday you might be dreaming of me (Let them come down)
Put everyone else in that box on your shelf
(Don't make a sound)
Put everyone else in that box on your shelf
(Stop trying to figure it out)
hold you quietly

Tonight
