Well I know that he talked to you
And although what he said was true
Before you make up your mind
Won't you give me some time
And I will show you another side
I know that he said that I didn't care
'Cause when he needed me I wasn't there
That we came to agree that the best way to be
Was just good friends
I wonder did he told you the rest
That I could never be second best
And when he put me aside
That's when he turned round and find
That I was slipping away
And he never realised
It seems that men they don't recognize
That while they're playing around
A girl's spirits go down
And the feelings start to change
There's two sides to every story
So don't you listen to one side

There's two sides to every story
Don't you listen to one side oh no
I guess you don't understand
You know I really loved that man
I really tried
And when I cried
I cried the love right out of me
There's two sides to every story
So don't you listen to one side
Two sides to every story
Don't you listen to one side oh no
There's two sides to every story
Don't you listen to one side no
There's two sides to every story
Don't you listen to one side oh no
Don't you listen to one side no
Don't you listen to one side no
Don't you listen to one side oh no
Know that it's up to you
