It took eight years just to realize
No one looks when we say goodbye
Dying just to survive
It feels like the first time

All the things that you set aside
All the friends that you leave behind
Just so the curtain would rise
And it feels like the first time

Take this heart
It's ticking like a cheap clock
Oh, I need you to believe in me

Oh, I need you to believe in me
Oh, my God

We were under the skyline
Through the sirens and flashing lights
Told me it's no use to try anymore
Does it mean that much to you?

At that moment when time stops
All at once, see the pressure drops
Weighing in the back of my teeth
I knew that we all could make it

Take this heart
It's tickin' like a time bomb
And I'm not running anymore
I'll stand to face it all

I'll fight for every breath
Oh, I need you to believe in me
Oh my God.

And I'm not running anymore
I'll stand to face it all
I'll fight for every breath

I need you to believe in me
Oh, I need you to believe
I need you to believe
