All of those times that you just go one running
Leads me to believe
There's a solitude you need
Takes you away to a place when your alone
How was I to know how this all would go?
I know we never talk about
Try to dace our way around it
My alarms they have sounded
If there's a fear I think we've found it

Everything would be just fine
If maybe we could pass the time, well
We're leaving this all uncovered
For the demons to hold us down
Everything in life could change
From the moment that you walked away, well
I don't want to leave uncovered, uncovered

Nothing I say ever seems to make you understand
We got together anyway just not quite the way we planned
As I run over that same moment in my mind
There's got to be another way for us to pass the time
When you feel broken bent or bound
I will keep you safe and sound
It's a fight you cannot win
Let the story line begin again

Everything would be just fine
If maybe we could pass the time, well
We're leaving this all uncovered
For the demons to hold us down
Everything in life could change
From the moment that you walked away, well
I don't want to leave uncovered, uncovered

I try to press rewind
Nothing happens every time
There's a line that I have drawn
It's the line we're standing on
If it's nothing like you said
Your like a book I've never read

I'd still want to be inside of you
Let's take it for a ride tonight

Everything would be just fine
If maybe we could pass the time, well
We're leaving this all uncovered
For the demons to hold us down
My life changed
From the moment you walked away,
I don't want to leave uncovered, uncovered
Uncovered, uncovered
