I'd take one for you but would you take one for me
I'd give up my life so you wouldn't have to bleed
Is this where it ends and your line begins?
Another night I'll tell my self to hold it in

I'm still running from you
You'll catch up soon in my head.
Do you know how much this hurts?

Innocence lost Burning inside of you
Bury the sun (I never felt it anyway)
I'm Scarring the scab, with more knives coming in
Leave it alone and it's bound to go away

You owe me two years of life
Take this knife from my back,
And you might as well kill me with it.

Betrayal is the fire inside of you so what's left of me
When I'm living inside of you.
I'll come out when the carcass becomes me.
