You caused a lot of pain the day that you left town Ignited gasoline and burned the bridges down I guess you had no plans of ever coming home I wish you best of luck wherever you may roam Because there is no turning back the bridge is no longer there no way in for when you're down and no way out if I should care The cliffs are steep and rugged 1000 miles tall and hungry sharks swim down below if you should slip and fall It does not matter who was wrong what does not kill me makes me strong I listened to the words you said The one that I once loved is dead I'm not sitting by the phone I'm not dying here alone Keep on going your merry way and listen close, you'll hear me say I don't want you I don't need you -ANYMORE- Trust is hard to come by and loyalty hard to find and no ones ever gotten what they need by being kind There is nothing left for us to do but never give up hope that someone has the skills to cross this tightened rope
