[Killah Priest] My man rolled up a path of souls Said he packed wit gold Lit it up, took a puff his eyes has closed Coughed in his speech, said the endorphins has released Off into peace, a cool speech like the spirit reached outta his chest As the weed ascend chased away in happiness I smiled; I lift my drink off destruction Fiery sea, rushin' down to my stomach But it filled in wit spirits and mellow instructions Knowin' water's released, selfish mystique As he chief's, reachin' thru the cloud, passin' to me Exchange for a drink, we took a moment to think Damn, look at the world thru our eyes chink Our black suits coulda been white Watchin' our man cut the wedding cake, him and his wife Flyin' ribbons; fly women throwin' rice But the cold night at the grave sight Droppin' flowers from his creation to the day he lost his power Then we both just there stuck, thinkin' to ourselves Damn another high Priest smoke cloud, he stands up Daddy said he's thru wit the needles Said he's thru usin' his peoples Said he's finished beatin' his wife The preacher told 'em "Yo you're cheatin' ya life" Meanwhile I write, lady sings the blues Child on the six o'clock news Face twisted and confused Old man liftin' his booze A lil girl rubbin' her bruise The destruction of the angels Streets bargain wit God, who's gon' save you? Turn to this bars, y'all need a Savior Not a mirror between bars to look at ya neighbor Jail time is hard, razor scars Traitors in yards, gangstaz and Gods Shit is all odd, no'I'mean? The ascend of a good brother, the down fall of another Who's to suffer but the mothers? A fiend said she seen the dragon in a crack pipe She said it breathed fire at her She quit smokin' that night But the dragon morphed into her man Took her by her hand Let her by the dealer she copped the bag Told her no one gave a damn She lit it, then his face bust open like stitches She jumped outta the window, sixth floor Amongst the dice and the liquor Shit, damn, what we gon' do?
