

Killah Priest

"The God Within"

Visit "The God Within" on MotoLyrics.com

[Killah Priest] When I write I take the day Pull it thru night, make the Earth explode Than bring it back as globe There's light, scrolls unfold, rivers reverse I picture the verse, first When it's complete, its' from concrete And the streets are deeper than universe But still around me, gunshots, train stops And one cop, who hates my guts So many pages that I've written my fingers developed paper cuts Number stores, the stray dogs who chase the bus Tickets in hands of old women who pray for luck But one eye will finesse my craft Usually you can see a graft Hovering the unknown, the tones Light enters my bedroom, my pupils were red When I looked up from my pad Save the Lost Tribe from apartheid's That's you and I More than the nation that the brothers hold up on that sign on that cardboard This is what I rep God for To all y'all next with a sharp sword Bright words from the dark Lord Now let's start war You can see my notebook is my confession booths Since my youth, all my corrections, fire loops My connections with the truth My life, my stories Holy water, OG talk of Walter, the author Rise in glory, from being nailed to the pages, ageless I'm immortal to rap, how you atheist from facts? I'm living proof, feel my wombs thru the booth Relax, resurrections, the sun behind the moon from the roof I gave y'all parables, incomparable, unimaginable Hannibal upon an animal, the Mazateen, the Manateniam Millennium, equilibrium, it's equal to lithium Ether, either I'm eager to show you I'm deeper than any of them When my spirit hand reach for the pen It's God's body, I'm God soul, finding the God that's within

Visit Killah Priest page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.