What a shame, what a shame so quick Life lost so young and missed When it's stubbed out suddenly, turned off like the flick of a switch
Once you exit out the back door, can't come round here no more
No re-entry no return it's a lesson hard learned

Burning the water brown, it will come to break you down Burning the water brown and in it's depths you will drown

Well he ran around town with Charlie Well Charlie only makes you sorry His tracks all lead to nowhere, still you followed without a care
And you never got enough cause you always bought his bluff
So afraid to come down that you never got back up

Burning the water brown, it will come to break you
down
drown
Burning the water brown six feet deep underground Burning the water brown, will it come again for the next of kin?

You become the company you keep This water brown it puts you to sleep Well you become the company you keep This water brown it's rivers run deep

If you go and chase the dragon,
If you try to date china white Or if the poison people surround you, it just might end your life

Burning the water brown, it will come to break you
down

drown

Burning the water brown, six feet deep underground

Burning the water brown, will it come again for the next of kin?
