JUST TO SAY

Jamie Kenney and Matt Moran

This morning my little one
As you woke to the sun
I let the light dance round you
Sent an angel in disguise
To wipe the sleep from your eyes
Wrap his wings around you

Allow me this gesture of love if you please
Cause the morning was made for Moments like these
And that sunlight inside your room
Is just to say that I love you

Just about noon today
I brushed the rain drops away
To paint the sky above you
Gave a bluebird a song in G
Said to say its from me
Ive been thinking of you

I bloomed you a rose
With a face faded red
Tucked a dream and lullaby in your bed
And that moonlight upon your face
Is just to say that I love you

So raise your eyes to the skies above
Let me wipe your cares away
And remind you of
The way that I love you

I was right there beside you when
You heard the words of a friend
That broke the heart inside you
So I spent the night at your side
Caught every tear that you cried
Wrapped my arms around you

I smile when you laugh
And I hurt when you cry
And my heart beats with yours
Every day that goes by
And that star shining high above
Is just to say that I love you
Just to say that I love you
I love you more than anything
I love you more
