Half a mile away but still half a life away there's no trace of you I tell myself that I I can see you passing by feel no trace of you I just called to tell you I never ever think about lazy days Sunday Afternoons Never miss the comfort of lying naked in the rough and holding me holding
You
It's who you are it's who I am myself I don't want you to forget me no
It's who you are it's who I am myself I don't want you to forget me I don't Want you to regret me I don't want you to release me I don't want it to Come easy

Whispers in the dark I never hit them off for they're sure of the truth Sometimes
Hard enough to stay true to myself oh by the way there's no trace of you I just called to tell you I heard you found another guy I hope he laughs at All your jokes
Does he like the way you laugh does he like the way you crash does he Follow you wherever you go [Chorus repeated 3x]
