

Adam Pascal

"The District"

Visit "The District" on MotoLyrics.com

I failed once again
I have not found just what I need
It comes back to you in the end
I'll take your call, and follow your lead
So maybe you should come to the district
'cause two years is nothing more than
A time to reset the score and Reinvent the wheel again and
Maybe fall in love again
So maybe I should fly to the rockies
I'd take a break from moving on and Slow it down to speed this up, we'd
Maybe see what this thing's made of, and
Maybe fall in love in the end
This winter offered up
A cold wake up call from this sleep to
The things that matter more
Like you
Like a dream
Like a fire in me, so deep
So maybe you should come to the district
'cause you say this is the good stuff, and Holding you would not be too tough, we'd
Maybe see what this thing's made of, and
Maybe fall in love again
So maybe I could change my life then
I'd learn to love someone else but me, or Maybe give you everything that you need, or Maybe think of you while falling asleep, and
Maybe fall in love in the end
And you know...
That I find you waiting here
At a similar point in space and mind so
I must step past this fear
I know we have a lifetime ahead to find
To make my life work
What else can I do
If you're waiting for me
I am ready for you
And I'm ready to see
Your point of view

Now we must face the front
And throw the past
Past all we leave behind
Never thinking of the pain we've cause each other
And give only love this time
Only love this time
So maybe you should come to the district(come to the district)
Maybe you should come to the district(come to the district)
Maybe you should come to the district(come to the district)
Maybe you should come to the district(come to the district)
Maybe you should come to the district(come to the district)
Maybe you should come to the district(come to the district)
Maybe you should come to the district(come to the district)
Maybe you should come to the district(come to the district)

Visit Adam Pascal page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.