"you were woken by the bell, you went into my room,
but I was gone.

The bed was made, so you laid down and slept for twenty minutes in the sun.

Leavin' 49, I am leavin' 49, I decided not to wake you in the end.

Leavin' 49, I am leavin' 49, it will be a Sunday when our eyes will smile again, oh we'll smile again.

There's a boy who sat across from me, I liked the way his hair sweeps to one side.

I can tell by the way his smile is lingering, he's thinking something nice.

Leavin' 49, I am leavin' 49, I decided not to wake you in
the end.

Leavin' 49, I am leavin' 49, it will be a Sunday when our eyes will smile again, oh we'll smile again.

Leavin' 49, I am leavin' 49, I decided not to wake you in
the end.

Leavin' 49, I am leavin' 49, it will be a Sunday when our eyes will smile again, oh we'll smile again.

we'll smile again€| we'll smile again€| we'll smile
again."
