("mother? ")

Well as the city nights grow cold
The lights jump through the shutters
And a thousand echos fill the streets
And bounce along the dirty gutters

(out there)

I know that he's waiting for me

(somewhere)

I know that he's waiting there for me

I watched her falling to the ground
And saw the glass go flying
And inside her mind the fuse blew out
But deep inside a voice was crying

(out there)

I know that he's waiting for me

(somewhere)

I know that he's waiting there

Look out for the bladerunner
I thought I heard him calling you

And now a silence fills the room
I feel my heart start beating
'cos inside the shadows there he stands
He's waiting on our final meeting

(out there)

I know that he'd waited for me

(somewhere)

I know that he'd waited there for me
