Do you remember when tears fell like rain
When hearts got broken again and again
The disillusionment after the pain
Seems everything stays the same

But time goes by and you've further to fall
You build your life like you're building a wall
Then it surrounds you, and though you may call
You're voice is so small

And all your expectations of how life should be
Have needed correction
There is no perfection but

Someday maybe you'll stop living
In a world of fantasy
Someday open up your mind and see
Live in a reality

Life's in your hands but you're closing your mind
Cos you're afraid of the mess you will find
You're scared that's love gonna leave you behind
That you're running out of time

And all your expectations of how life should be
Have needed correction
There is no perfection
But

Someday maybe you'll stop living
In a world of fantasy
One day open up your mind and see
Live in a reality
Someday maybe you'll stop looking
For a world of make believe
One day open up your eyes and see
Make it a reality

Stop crying
Looking at life through bitter tears

And face your fears
To reveal the thruth inside
Just like a child

Someday maybe you'll stop living
In a world of fantasy
One day open up your mind and see
Live in a reality
Maybe you'll stop looking
For a world of make believe
Someday open up your eyes and see
Make it a reality

Someday...
Someday...
