I never knew I was existing Getting by from sun to sun
Missing out on what my life someday would become
There were friends and there were lovers
There were times I really cared
And every now and then someone
I thought I always wanted there
I laughed and dreamed, I moved and my heart beat...but

CHORUS

I never lived before, never felt before
Never breathed until I breathed the same air as you
I never gave before, always wanted more
And with one touch I knew I'd never loved before you

It's like I never saw a sunrise
Till I woke up by your side
Like I didn't see the moon until I saw it in your eyes
And never kissed until your lips touched mine

CHORUS

Before you there was no music
No rhythm and no rhyme
Now life is like a symphony
And my heart is alive
