"Morning Sunshine"

i'd came to see you in the morning sunshine saltwater dripping from your hair ten thousand leagues of love and sheer devotion what bubbles under breathes for air i'd like to see you crawling from the shadows i'd like to see you colouring the air the darkest hour comes before the sunrise the darkest hour comes before the sun command a son and thou shall have refusal you sold the honey to buy coal and every squirrel shares a pearl of wisdom higher the tree, greater the fall

i'd like to see you crawling from the shadows
