ruby it fills the sky your southern lips on mine i give in easily and don't ask why i couldn't sleep that night i wandered down by the railway track i ain't never coming back put your arms around my neck you're a dirty little insect make a bed upon the shore i've seen you're type before and whatever you're here for i'm not leaving, i've got no place to go i said i said i'm not from here you said that much is clear you left the door wide open for me vermillion taking over i couldn't help but follow you down you laid me down by the river

i've seen your type before bad to the bone and we don't know which way the road will turn but there'll be no stumbling 'cos i got no place to fall
