

Cerys Matthews

"This Endless Rain"

Visit "This Endless Rain" on MotoLyrics.com

this endless rain
makes it hard to decide if i should go or if i should stay these clouds, do they grow to fill the skyline or are they made to measure out the grey

it's raining in the garden, it's raining in the fields it's raining in the forest, and as far as i can see

this endless rain
makes it hard to decide if it's a gloomy day or if there's something on my mind.

it's raining in the garden, it's raining in the fields
it's raining in the forest and as far as i can see it rains on my defenses, throwing shadows on the wall i get soaked to the bone, will it make me halfway grow will i ever be ready?

'cos its you at my door rattling my senses, are you looking for a place to call your own? well, it may be a dream come true spending so much time with you but it all seems to hinge upon the weather..

it's raining in the garden, it's raining in the fields
it's raining in the forest and as far as i can see it rains on my defenses it's raining down on me i get soaked to the bone will it make me fully grown will i ever be ready?

Visit Cerys Matthews page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.