I used to be too lost to trust someone
I wandered in and out of love
It's safe to say I've found my way
Now that you've helped me see that I have everything
I once imagined there were lots of things
That might not ever come to be
But now my dreams are so complete
Now that you're here with me and I have everything
There was a time when I thought love had passed me by
I look at you and know my world has just arrived
My heart's found hope that there will always be No end to what you'll bring to me
I have so much
I have so much
Now that I have your love and I have everything
