

Kimya Dawson

"Lullaby For The Taken"

Visit "Lullaby For The Taken" on MotoLyrics.com bombs are dropping , smoke fills the air i wanna duck and cover but i've gotta stay out here

'cause i know myself and if i hole up in my room i'll be consumed by the doom and the gloom so i called john 'cause i know he knows sorrow he said "i'll be in the city tomorrow" so i go down and i watch him sing and the way he sings sends a chill right through me, yeah

and now there's a mountain goat precariously balanced on the frog stuck in my throat it says "sometimes whispering's okay, but maybe you'd feel better if you screamed today"

the lady took the baby
i know she loves the baby
but the baby has a daddy
and his daddy loves him too
how could she take the baby?
maybe she's gone crazy
she won't share
it's not fair
there's nothing i can do

the lady took the baby
i know she loves the baby
but the baby has a daddy
and his daddy loves him too
how could she take the baby?
maybe she's gone crazy
she won't share
it's not fair
there's nothing i can do

tuesday night grandma curled up in my bed by wednesday morning my grandma was dead i was in charlotte, i took the bus home her shoes, watch, and teeth were still in my room and as i lay me down to sleep i felt her spirit rise up through me

she said "i got to live a long eighty six years, dry your tears.

i know it's hard but please let go so i can meet your grandpa in the undertow chin up girl, you've got to be strong, and know when you're singing i'm singing along"

the lady took the baby
i know she loves the baby
but the baby has a daddy
and his daddy loves him too
how could she take the baby?
maybe she's gone crazy
she won't share
it's not fair
there's nothing i can do

the lady took the baby
i know she loves the baby
but the baby has a daddy
and his daddy loves him too
how could she take the baby?
maybe she's gone crazy
she won't share
it's not fair
there's nothing i can do

little bitty baby so far away
we hope that you can come home soon when we're not together, now or ever always remember i love you

little bitty baby so far away
we hope that you can come home soon
when we're not together, now or ever
always remember i love you

Visit Kimya Dawson page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.