we switched to jay leno from da ali g show to see some kids that we know do what they do on TV. sometimes i wish i was there, but mostly i just don't care i cry and laugh and forth and back, it's all good comedy and there's no rhyme or reason for the changing of the seasons sometimes the winter lasts for months sometimes it lasts for days the world is an amazing place there's gaping holes in outer space sunburned for the first time skin is peeling off my face and bruno said what anders said some producer said to young lennon

"they can't all be ballads julian"

open up your eyes and see the beauty over there open up our ears and be surprised by what you hear 'cause it's not just on the radio, it's not just on the video it isn't all downloadable, there's music everywhere and the fact that they divide us should be enough to unite us we are the world so boys and girls let's all collaborate 'cause when we play together we won't notice the bad weather like flashlight tag when it's real cold or kickball in the rain

get out there and be seen, you're lean and clean, you're barely nineteen, you're a singing machine
get out there and be seen, you're lean and clean,

get out there and be seen, you're lean and clean,
you're barely nineteen, you're a singing machine
get out there and be seen, you're lean and clean, you're barely nineteen, you're a singing machine
get out there and be seen, you're lean and clean,

it doesn't matter what you look like, doesn't matter what you sound like doesn't matter if they like you, just remember to be kind and tell someone you miss them, tell someone you need them tell someone you wish you could be with them all the time sounds silly but it's not a game, making music makes me sane i sing away my pain and everything turns out okay and i'm not talking fame and glory, 'cause that's a different story this story is about how truth and love can save the day
