

King Konga "For Your Love"

Visit "For Your Love" on MotoLyrics.com

Days stealing days leave me lonely,
Walking backwards through the night.
Photos of you and I and old times.
But black and white pictures don't show you right.
Plans upon plans and things to do,
Didn't let me realize but you're the future I left in the past.
And I'm caught up now by what could have been.
What I once knew of you is what I have heard of you.
It's fading so fast!

What can I do for your love?
I was a witness while time expired.
What can I do for your love?
I think I've got what's required,

For your love

The world's slow turn is what keeps me alive.
Sometimes I think I only live for the sunset.
But my eyes sometimes open to see the sunrise.
Plans upon plans and things to do,
Didn't let me realize but you're the future I left in the past.
And I'm caught up now by what could have been.
What I once knew of you is what I once heard of you.
It's all fading so fast!

What can I do for your love?
I was a witness while time expired.
What can I do for your love?
I think I've got what's required,

For your love

Visit King Konga page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.