You can't ignore me anymore...walk down the hall
through the front door...

Step outside and take a breath of fresh air...look around and know this day could be my last...

Do you still think of me...as someone who's afraid?

I've been going down...I've thought this moment would be my last...

But now it's all been changed...changed by the face of death...

You don't own me anymore...walk across the street where traffic wars...

Climb to the rooftop to end my fear...

Now I've opened up my eyes....now every day is like my last...

I'll play your game...you can change the rules if you like...

Cause now I know all your secrets....all your secrets...

And now I'm fearless....fearless...fearless...
