Yeah, the rain came independence day
With an old flag, washed and raised
And the chid sang, all fall down
No one heard it, not a sound
Yeah the rain came turning gray
And the jury went out to play Doesn't matter someone said
There's tomorrow, go to bed

No drama, no trauma, down in the jungle
down in decay
Getting over, getting older, something is different
something is changed
I be happy, I be happy

In the jungle where the beat is strong Nothing's shocking, loud is long
Like the middle of a dream
I was woken when I screamed
I could never go back to that old prison of my youth Move forward, someone said, you can make it
If you use your head

No drama, no trauma, down in the jungle

down in decay
Getting over, getting older, something is different
something is changed
I be happy, I be happy

When your world comes crashing down
And there ain't nothing you can do about it And when everybody's done you wrong and your feeling toe down
Now the kingdom of everything is within and to love yourself is not a sin
And if there's a light inside, it'll shine
And if there's a light inside, it'll shine

No drama, no trauma, down in the jungle
down in decay
Getting over, getting older, something is different

something is changed
I be happy, I be happy
