Recalling memories of love with you
Such simple innocence of love we knew
We held each other crying tears of happiness

And then the winds of change began to blow
The voice of destiny said I must go
My tears could fill an ocean trying to forget
My love could move a mountain ever since we met

[Chorus:]

You'll never know
How much I have loved you, so
You'll never know, just how much it took to go
But soon you won't be crying tears of loneliness

[Chorus (Unplugged version only):]

You'll always shine
Like the stars above you do
