There's a world I live by night, a place where I have gone.
Through voice, we rejoice and paint the grounds with song.
The land sits higher, the moon shines brighter.

Symphony of brilliance, play for us the song that we may chant as one.
Let it ring. Compose a song for those who seek the sound they have not found.

Let it ring, let them sing.

Resonate every note that they create.
May it bring tears to the eyes of all that hear.
Sustain and preserve the anthem they have long deserved.

Let it ring, let us sing.

I've dreamt of somewhere far, somewhere past the sea;
a haven, a home of harmony.
Music coats the crowds, the people sing along and loud.
I've dreamt of somewhere far. A place where I belong
