

Kingston Falls

"Too Hot For Cold Feet"

Visit "Too Hot For Cold Feet" on MotoLyrics.com

(She was) peace in the madness like the eye of a storm.
Overwhelmed by attraction, if not for this, what for?
Surrounded by desire, this is all I'll ever need.
I should have known this could not go further than my dreams.

I thought that love had found me.
Dear God, its so deceiving.

I have tried to understand why fate brought me such beauty so late.
Looking past the safety, can you answer why your love can't be mine.

Closely reading your eyes
I'm starting to believe that somewhere in the complex,
I am the one you need.
An image of perfection.
How could it ever be?
I should have known this could not go further than our dreams.

I thought that love had found me.
Dear God, its so deceiving.

I have tried to understand why fate brought me such beauty so late.
Looking past the safety, can you answer why your love can't be mine.

It's dangerous.
The blade is double-edged.
You will be cut no matter what in subtle, silent romance.

I have tried to understand why fate brought me such beauty so late.
Looking at the safety, now I see why your love can't be mine.

