Bob Shane/Nick Reynolds/John Stewart

(Chorus)

Bury me beneath the willow,
'neath the weeping willow tree.
When she hears that I am sleeping,
Maybe then, she'll think of me.

My heart is sad and I am lonely.
Thinking of the one I love.
Will I see her? Never. Never.
Not 'til we meet in heaven above.

So, (Chorus)

She told me that she really loved me.
How could I believe her untrue?
Then one day some neighbors told me
'She has proven untrue to you'

So, (Chorus)

Tomorrow was to be our wedding.
I pray 'Oh Lord, where can she be?'
She has gone; she's gone to love another.
She no longer cares for me.

So, (Chorus)

Maybe then she'll think of me.
