Welcome to the mirrorland where we all understand the time is now and around is just memories and premises
So live now or to live outside the present time Present, that's nice, when you give you allways get back but when you take...?
The mirrorland
it's got lessons and lessons and prizes in between
the mirrorland
it's got history and it's got his story in the mirrorland

As we pile now the things we used to feel before we get close to his presence who tells where to go it's that first sound you get before you think about it at all Afet that comes the one(*) that's reduced and it's gone Could it be so that all the answers are there all it takes is the peace to hear what it says
