Though it happened long ago the hurt just won't let go
And it's burning a hole in my mind
I see her and I see you and the things we used to do
And it's burning a hole in my mind.

I said I'd forget and I tried
But my heart tells my tongue that it lied
Though I've tried to forgive every moment I live
Is a torture the devil designed
In my mind's eye I see how you made a fool of me
And it's burning a hole in my mind.

(Though it happened long ago the hurt just won't let go
Is a torture the devil designed)
In my mind's eye I see how you made a fool of me
And it's burning a hole in my mind.

It's burning a hole in my mind...
