I can see what's on your mind
I can tell you every time you thought of leavin'
Thought that I'd just wait and see
How long you keep deceiving me with all your cheatin'.

Lots of times you'd almost slip
But oh, how quick those lying lips would cover up for you
All you have to do was say
I'd like to pack and get away, I've thought of leaving too.

You don't have to tell me things I already knew Every time your lips would lie your eyes would tell on
you
Never even give our love a good chance to win
Till you were out and looking again.

Before you go I'll tell you true
I used to follow her and you your secret places
I wasn't too blinded to see
You wanted her instead of me on your happy faces.

Guess it's over, this is it
Might as well just call it quits you're free to go now
Hope she doesn't think that she can hold you better
Than me you'll never slow down.

You don't have to tell me things I already knew
Every time your lips would lie your eyes would tell on
you
Never even give our love a good chance to win
Till you were out and looking again.

Yes', it's over, this is it
Might as well just call it quits you're free to go now
Hope she doesn't think that she can hold you better
Than me you'll never slow down...
