Tie a string around your finger
Leave a note upon your desk
Don't forget little things that happened
To bring you happiness

It doesn't matter if you're rich or poor
Just remember the one you adore
So hold her and tell her you love her
If you're the man that remembers her

A woman never forgets
All the little things you do
A woman never forgets
All the memories you bring her

It doesn't matter if you're rich or poor
Just remember the one you adore
So hold her and tell her you love her
If you're the man that remembers her

A woman never forgets
All the little things you do
A woman never forgets
All the memories you bring her

So hold her and tell her you love her
If you're the man that remembers her
