I never used to give you half a chance
Without you I am not complete
You bring me comfort in my time of need
In you I seem to find some peace
They'll never penetrate my mind
I won't be led astray this time
Don't cast out things you aren't sure of Tear down the Walls that you create
A little taste of inner healing
Never again will I forsake
They'll never penetrate my mind
I won't be led astray this time
They'll never penetrate my mind
I won't be led astray this time
Instead of knowing for themselves
They cast you out in disbelief
They don't know what you have to offer
They could experience relief
They'll never penetrate my mind
I won't be led astray this time
They'll never penetrate my mind
I won't be led astray this time
