This ain't a good time
But when is it ever
I know the perfect time
And baby that's never
So don't you dare leave me now
Throw my heart on the ground
Cause tonight ain't the night for sorrow
But you can hurt me tomorrow, okay
It's on you...okay...

I used to be a strange fruit
Billy Holiday, then you got me by my roots
Sent the pain away
I tried to question our direction, that was my mistake
I had to ask you where we going baby, Marvin Gaye
I used to do it like Sinatra, do it my way
Now I'm the Fuji of my Lauren Hill that got away
I thought we had an 'at last love', Etta James
But now I'm wondering...

If what I heard is true
Then I know what you came to do
Love may be blind but I'm looking at you
So before you pull the trigger, did you ever consider

This ain't a good time
But when is it ever
I know the perfect time
And baby that's never
So don't you dare leave me now
Throw my heart on the ground
Cause tonight ain't the night for sorrow
But you can hurt me tomorrow,

You can hurt me (repeat)
Tomorrow (repeat)
But girl save it for tomorrow

If you could take a rain check on a stormy night
Then I will love you till you're old, like you're Betty
White
You can hurt me any other day, pick a fight

But not on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday,
Friday night
And not the weekend either, cause I got a song to write
I promise I'ma hear you out when the time is right
Let's have a talk, August 7, 2099
At your place or mine?

This ain't a good time
But when is it ever
I know the perfect time
And baby that's never
So don't you dare leave me now
Throw my heart on the ground
Cause tonight ain't the night for sorrow
But you can hurt me tomorrow

Hey, why you turn around and walk away?
I know you got a lot to say
And I really want to talk about it
Just not today

Is there an instrument to measure all the heartache in
A looking glass so we can see where all the magic went
I need a button I can push so we can start again
Cause girl you bring me to my knees...Nancy Kerrigan

This ain't a good time
But when is it ever
I know the perfect time
And baby that's never
So don't you dare leave me now
Throw my heart on the ground
Cause tonight ain't the night for sorrow
But you can hurt me tomorrow,

You can hurt me (repeat)
Tomorrow (repeat)
But girl save it for tomorrow
