This world will fall with your kingdom of greed selling hope and forgiveness to a world in need taking advantage and building your temple you killing your witness we now become vengeful recognition wealth money and greed nothing will stop this destructive disease gold laces the floor from the most faithful of tither only to go to the most haynes of liars what have you done you servant of greed you've built an army from those you've rejected we march on this empire for the have hate that you've perfected you'll see the end of your dark sinful ways we'll destroy your temple in a fiery fucking blaze now stand and watch you fucking thief as your empire is diabolically diseased our army is strong for the lies that you feed our army is strong from your gluttonous greed buildings now do fall and so do your gold filled halls relinquish thee give up your throne at once you've caused this suffering leading them to their knees false prophecy life of luxury relinquish thee endless pain you've caused to build these gold fills halls you profess to heal creating twisted laws let go and repent you will see your kingdoms fall your reign of false hope and selling are over its time to face your fate its time to reap what you have sown now bleed bleed you are the truly a disease you are a liar you are a thief you have perfected the art of endless grief
