Dealing with confusion
You always fill my head with useless information
And it's contributing to ,my frustration
If i shout or if i scream it's just a reflex reaction
And it's always aimed at you

You think my efforts are pointlesss
And handled in a way that is totally thoughtless
Defending all you love
But the enemys faceless
It's a cancer and the cure,must always elude us
As it eats it's way through you

But this feelings rebounding of you
Oh,is this the best we can do?
This feelings rebounding of you

Dealing with confusion
You always fill my head with useless information
And it's contributing to ,my frustration
If i shout or if i scream it's just a reflex reaction
And it's always aimed at you

But this feelings rebounding of you
But this feelings rebounding of you
Oh,is this the best we can do?
This feelings rebounding of you
