What's your bad news today? I bet you couldn't tell me one good thing that you did. What did you do today? I bet it wasn't healthy. What happened to you? You don't tell me good things anymore. I guess this could be better. I guess I'll send this letter now that you have been gone. What ever happened to you? What thoughts are running through you? We used to be so tight. Things just aren't right. Tell me if there's something I can do. You need a vacation from this too.
